Economic Sociology

Final Exam

26 August 10:00 am – 27 August 10:00 am

This exam question consists of 1 page in total (excluding this page)

A take-home exam paper cannot exceed 10 pages – and one page is defined as 2400 keystrokes.

Please note that the language used in your exam paper must correspond to the language of the title for which you registered during exam registration. I.e. if you registered for the English title of the course, you must write your exam paper in English. Likewise, if you registered for the Danish title of the course or if you registered for the English title which was followed by “eksamen på dansk” in brackets, you must write your exam paper in Danish.

If you are in doubt about which title you registered for, please see the print of your exam registration from the students’ self-service system.

The paper must be uploaded as one PDF document (including the standard cover and the appendices). The PDF document must be named with exam number only (e.g. ‘1234.pdf’) and uploaded to Absalon.

Focus on Exam Cheating

In case of presumed exam cheating, which is observed by either the examination registration of the respective study programmes, the invigilation or the course lecturer, the Head of Studies will make a preliminary inquiry into the matter, requesting a statement from the course lecturer and possibly the invigilation, too. Furthermore, the Head of Studies will interview the student. If the Head of Studies finds that there are reasonable grounds to suspect exam cheating, the issue will be reported to the Rector. In the course of the study and during examinations, the student is expected to conform to the rules and regulations governing academic integrity. Academic dishonesty includes falsification, plagiarism, failure to disclose information, and any other kind of misrepresentation of the student’s own performance and results or assisting another student herewith. For example failure to indicate sources in written assignments is regarded as failure to disclose information. Attempts to cheat at examinations are dealt with in the same manner as exam cheating which has been carried through. In case of exam cheating, the following sanctions may be imposed by the Rector:

- 1. A warning
- 2. Expulsion from the examination
- 3. Suspension from the University for at limited period or permanent expulsion.

The labour market has a special status in the discussion of how markets work. Marx emphasised how the theory of surplus value would influence the relationship between workers and capitalist in the labour market. Durkheim emphasised how the extended use of work sharing in the industrial society was a challenge in relation to getting some kind of order in society. More modern economic sociological theories have looked into the role of social networks in relation to recruitment of workers and tried to understand how an organised labour market with trade unions and wage negotiations between unions and employers organisations function.

Explain in more general terms the view on markets in economic sociology, how do markets arise, how do they function and how is order achieved in markets – and relate this more specifically to how labour markets function. Compare the outcome of market interactions between workers and capitalist and how order is achieved or not as it is presented by e.g. Marx and Durkheim in their theories with the presentation of market interaction and market order in more modern theories like e.g. Bourdieu, Granovetter and Aspers.

Discuss if and how aspects of more modern theories from economic sociology can be useful in the understanding of interactions in the labour market.
